

A Newer
and Greater

Zephyr

DOES IT AGAIN!

On Friday, October 23, one of the great new Denver Zephyrs added one more laurel to the history-making achievements of this world famous train family. Leaving Chicago Union Station at exactly 7:00 o'clock in the morning with a distinguished company of "Gentlemen Adventurers" on a trip sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce, this great train zoomed over the 1,017 miles to Denver in the incredible time of 12 hours and 12 minutes at an average speed of 83.3 miles per hour.

A new long-distance high-speed record for a non-stop run!

A glistening tube of silver flashing across the prairie—covering in breath-taking minutes, distances once traversed in weary days by the lumbering wagon trains. Today, breakfast in Chicago, dinner in Denver—for the first time in rail history.

Speeds of 80 (on "slow" orders)—90—100—110—and the last 454 miles from Dorchester, Neb. to Denver (from an altitude of 1486 feet upgrade all the way to 5183 feet elevation) run at an average speed of 91.1 miles per hour. Telegraph wires clicking excitedly. Radio announcements flashing out over the ether. Headlines in bold fresh ink pouring from mighty presses. On every tongue the now-familiar words:

"Well, a BURLINGTON Zephyr has done it again!"

On November 8th the two new 12-car Denver Zephyrs entered regular service between Chicago and Denver, each train a triumph of travel luxury, comfort and beauty. Powered by Diesel engines developing 3,000 horse power, they operate on a 16-hour schedule Westbound, 15 hours 40 minutes Eastbound . . . substantially the same schedule as that of the smaller Advance Denver Zephyrs which they replaced.
