

Breakfast

See the
REAL WEST
this Summer or Fall

Get out in the open this summer and rub elbows with the Romance of the Western ranges. Visit a Dude Ranch and enjoy a vacation utterly different from any you've ever known.

Dude Ranching is one sport, one recreation that is 100% American, 100% fun and informality. "Dudeing" means 10-gallon hats, cowboy boots, colorful shirts, well-tanned leather and dependable horses . . . it means riding the ranges through purple sage to 50-mile vistas and mile-high mountains . . . it means picnics amid unspoiled Nature, camping out under the stars, grand fishing, grand loafing, great appetites and tall tales around the old corral.

So come all you Dudes and Dudines . . . you "tenderfeet" from the effete East (anywhere East of the Rockies, that is). There's a ranch of your choice waiting for you out West in Wyoming, Montana, Colorado—and a Burlington train to take you there quickly, comfortably, economically.

There's still time to go; September and October are ideal months. These are the big Fall Round-Up months . . . great fishing days . . . and open season for big game. Also, most ranches offer sharply reduced rates.

For railroad rates, reservations, train schedules and other information on these events, write
A. COTSWORTH, JR., Passenger Traffic Manager
547 West Jackson Boulevard . . . . Chicago, Illinois

