EMINENT ARTIST SERIES Reproduced by special permission of Diego Rivera, internationally known Mexican artist.

"We, in cooperation with the Famine Emergency Committee program for feeding the starving people of the world, are endeavoring to conserve on the use of oil and wheat.

We are required to offer the same portions as during April 4 to 10, 1943. However, the usual second roll, slice of bread, additional crackers, basket or plate of bread or rolls or extra helping of oil salad dressing will be served you only if you request it."

Diego Maria Rivera,

painter, draftsman and illustrator, is considered by many the most outstanding contemporary Mexican artist. Undoubtedly, he is the most versatile and prolific, and unsurpassed in the mastery of mural painting. Thoroughly familiar with old and modern art, he combines the simplicity and directness of early Italian primitives with the daring composition of experimenting modernists. He has spent considerable time in the United States, where he is well known for his murals in many public buildings.
